Strike Team Report April 2020

We hope that you are all staying safe in these challenging times. Spring is upon us and I've been enjoying sprucing up my property (including ridding it of thousands of stems of invasive species) and watching native plants coming to life, Dutchman's Breeches in full bloom!

We continue to plan on a productive field season, helping to protect our rare species and special natural lands throughout New Jersey.

Save the Date

June 6, 2020

We are hopeful that we will be able to host our our second annual Community Conference. We will keep you up to date on the status of this event, which may be become a virtual opportunity or get rescheduled to later in the year.

POTLUCK!

We're planning to have our 2nd Annual Potluck Social in late October (date and location TBD)! Start thinking of your invasive species recipes and be ready to collect your ingredients through the season. Dishes can also be made with edible native species and other local foods. Check out this video on garlic mustard.

Live and Learn

Do you want to know how to get rid of your Mile-a-Minute? The Strike Team has put together a 1-page guide. There are always ways to improve, so help us learn by sharing your experiences with us!

Email your experiences to info@fohvos.org.
